These are the textbooks I use in my courses (and you WILL be using the textbook!!):

HUM 1020 (Introduction to Humanities): Landmarks in Humanities, Third Edition, by Gloria K. Fiero (ISBN 9780077695613). This book comes with a code for Connect, an online resource which you may find helpful throughout the semester, but is not required.

REL 2000 (Understanding Religious Traditions): Experiencing the World's Religions: Tradition, Challenge, and Change, 5th ed. by Michael Molloy (ISBN 9780073407500). There is a very peaceful waterfall on the front cover – ahhh...

Whenever you are ready to obtain your textbook, you have a few options:

- Order the textbook from Valencia's online bookstore and have it delivered directly to the Valencia campus of your choice. You may also have the option to rent the textbook for the semester. For additional information, see: http://valencia-osceola.verbacompare.com/

- Pick up a copy from our Osceola campus bookstore. For more information on the bookstore, including location and hours, see: http://valenciacollege.edu/bookstore/.

- Order from an online vendor, which may offer a discounted price. You may also find a used copy or previous edition of one of the textbooks to be a more affordable option. The trade off here may be a book without a Connect code or CD-rom accompaniment, plus a little extra leg work to make sure you are reading the right pages for the course schedule. It makes no difference to me which edition you use, as long as you are keeping up with the material.

There is also a copy of the textbook available on reserve in our campus library. No matter how you obtain your textbook, you will want to have it no later than the beginning of the second week of the semester.
